Sungod Recreation Building Safe and Open for Business

Brief:

On January 12 2008 at 3:30 p.m. Delta Police and Delta Fire Department responded to the Sungod Recreation Center located in the 7800 blk 112th Street in North Delta regarding an ammonia gas leak which is believed to have been as a result of a system malfunction.

The evacuees from the Sungod were transported by BC Transit, to the North Delta Recreation Center (11415 84th Ave) where a reception area was established and people were advised to pick up their friends and loved ones from there.

Fortunately, no one suffered any ill effects or injury as no civilians were exposed to the gas.

UPDATE:

Those that have personal effects inside the facility are advised to call the Sungod facility at (604) 952 3045 at 0800 a.m. today to receive instructions on how to retrieve their personal items.

The Delta Police Department was advised this morning by Delta Fire Chief, Dan Copeland, that the Sungod building has been given the all clear. The system is repaired, the buildings have been fully vented and the Sungod Recreation Facility is staffed and open for business as usual today.
